

Jonathan Murphy

Design & Creative Freelance

I am an Irish designer based in London who enjoys creating custom solutions for clients of all shapes and sizes. I am an energetic and social individual who enjoys working both in a team environment and autonomously to deliver creative solutions. I work collaboratively and sincerely with clients to identify solutions for their business as well as tailoring concepts to build their brand or product.

From managing both projects and people I have gained invaluable organisational, interpersonal and technical skills. I enjoy keeping up to date with design and software advances and the latest consumer trends in the market place which ensures a continuous flow of innovative ideas.

Having been in and around the design industry for 10 years I have gained a wealth of project management experience and a high success in delivering projects to time line and within budget. The results are gained through my understanding of key design, digital and print processes together with a variety of computer software. My most recent role incorporated design, client liaison and account management, as well as common design extras such as print management & training of staff.

Clients I have worked with in the past include Heineken, KPMG, Warner Bros. Music, FM104, Trócaire (National Charity for development in the third world), Lisney Real Estate (leading Irish commercial and residential real estate agency) and government work for the National AgeCard of Ireland.

If you would like to view some of my design work please visit my portfolio site www.jonathanmurphy.ie.

I want to continue and further my career within a progressive design company which will allow me to expand on my current skill set and develop my skills within the design industry.

I would welcome the opportunity to meet with you to discuss this opportunity and my details further. If you have any questions or queries please do not hesitate to contact me. Thank you for your time and consideration.
